I would like to thank you for the compassion and concern your Officer Love showed to our family Friday night, December 14, 2002. My 16-year-old son, Adam was in a hurry to get home before his curfew time of 11:30 when Trooper Love stopped Adam for speeding. Rather than giving Adam a ticket, he gave Adam a warning and proceeded to follow Adam home. Officer Love took his valuable time to talk to my wife and me about Adam's speeding and gave us a chance to punish Adam for his actions. Officer Love talked to us for about 15 minutes and his time left a lasting impression on Adam, my wife and I. I believe this action has been much more effective for a teenager who is in such a learning stage of his life. Not only has he learned not to speed, but he has learned to trust his law enforcement officers which can be difficult sometimes.

Thank you for your time, understanding and compassion.

Sincerely,

 12/16/02
