Re: Sergeant Scott E. Hull, Troop K

Sir:

Its so often that we the Public hear and or experience negative stories about the men and women who serve us, that we come to look upon them as adversaries. I know I've been guilty of mumbling under my breath about some long forgotten traffic stop.

Today while driving to my business I observed an act that I'm sure is not on the FHP Manual of Standard Practices. Your Sergeant Hull was using a tire tool to change a damaged tire on a distressed lady's car. I can only say that I'm sure her parents, husband, and other relatives will be happy to hear the story from her. I know I'm happy to share it with you.

Sergeant Hull went beyond the call of duty and service when in 100° weather stopped and helped a stranded motorist instead of driving by in his air conditioned cruiser and calling a service truck.

I commend his service and admire his compassion.

Yours,
